Students at the School of Tourism and Hospitality Management set a record this spring, landing the largest number of senior internships in school history.

A total of 136 seniors interned at a wide variety of tourism, hospitality, sport and recreation management firms and organizations (see list at right), a notable leap from the 120 internship placements STHM achieved in Spring 2014.

Additionally, 51 juniors attained internships, bringing the school’s total number of STHM undergraduate interns to 187.

The school requires junior and senior internships among all of its undergraduate students.

STHM students sticking to a four-year track complete all courses prior to spring semester of their senior years, in order to serve as full-time interns during the final semester of their undergraduate careers and, potentially, transition into a position.
