A PLACE OF THEIR OWN
Students at the School of Tourism and Hospitality Management have left their mark in organizations around the world.

A total of 115 seniors interned at a wide variety of tourism, hospitality, sport, and recreation management firms and organizations (see list at right). Additionally, 60 juniors attained internships, bringing the school’s total number of STHM undergraduate interns to 175.

The school requires junior and senior internships among all of its undergraduate students.

STHM students sticking to a four-year track complete all courses prior to spring semester of their senior years, in order to serve as full-time interns during the final semester of their undergraduate careers and, potentially, transition into a position.
